

ANNOUNCING POWERNOMICS® CERTIFICATION SEMINARS
– CHICAGO April 14-15

Dr. Claud Anderson, noted forensic historian and author, will conduct a first of its kind, series of day-long PowerNomics® Certification Seminars to train new Black leadership. Presented in collaboration with Dr. Boyce Watkins' Financial Juneteenth Black Business School, the first of the series will be in Chicago, April 14-15th at the Harold Washington Center. The PowerNomics Certification Seminar will be April 14.

The purpose of Dr. Anderson's seminar is to train up a cadre of leaders who have studied and learned PowerNomics® and are committed to using its principles and strategies to build economically strong Black communities. He will expose the origin of racism, the true purposes of slavery and Jim Crow and teach attendees innovative methods to address and correct the negative impact of both systems on Blacks.

In the morning session, Dr. Anderson will begin a de-programming process that tracks how this nation's Constitution and various laws shaped the status and perception of Native Blacks and programmed them to enrich and empower every group but themselves. The afternoon session will focus on group-based socio-economic solutions and will offer group strategies and models to push back against structural racism in business, politics and education. Attendees will learn to play as a team, to rebuild Black communities based on their competitive advantages.

Don't Miss this Opportunity. Become a PowerNomics® trained leader in your community. See Tour dates and cities below. Click on the link and register now: <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/the-financial-juneteenth-powernomics-tour-make-black-america-great-again-chicago-il-tickets-44133005006#tickets>) or call PowerNomics at 301-564-6075.

- April 14-15, Chicago, IL, Harold Washington Center
- April 21-22, St. Louis, MO, at the University of Missouri - St. Louis.
- May 4-6, Dallas, TX (location to be announced)
- May 18-20, Houston, TX (location to be announced)
- June 14-17, Toronto, Canada (location to be announced)